

Association of Black Women Physicians

Rebecca Lee Crumpler, MD Scholarship Application

The Association of Black Women Physicians (ABWP) provides Rebecca Lee Crumpler, MD Scholarships to female medical students who are permanent residents of Southern California or enrolled in Southern California medical schools. The awards are based on financial need and academic merit. They also serve to recognize women who embrace the organization's ideals as represented in the following mission statement:

"ABWP is an organized network of Black Women Physicians committed to the improvement of public health and welfare through the advancement of knowledge concerning women and community health. We serve as a philanthropic source of funds to projects related to the health concerns of underserved communities. We endeavor to enhance the personal and professional quality of life of present and future Black Women physicians."

ABWP begins acceptance of its scholarship applications on the first Monday of May. To qualify for consideration, please review the following requirements:

1. Applicants must be in good academic standing at a Southern California medical or osteopathic school and/or be a permanent resident of Southern California in good academic standing at any accredited medical or osteopathic school. Proof of residency may be required.
2. All applications must be complete and include the following: academic transcripts, financial aid award letter/verification, medical school acceptance letter or medical school dean's letter of good standing, three (3) letters of recommendation, curriculum vitae, short bio (250 words or less), high quality photo (.jpeg preferred format) and a typed personal statement.
3. Application deadline is October 1st.
4. Incomplete or late applications will not be considered.

If selected, the recipient and/or a representative on her behalf must be present to receive the scholarship award during the Fall Charity and Scholarship Benefit Event. Congratulations on your accomplishments thus far. We wish you much continued success and look forward to receiving your application.
